Do you dream of being a mindless slave (or entree) to the bloodcrazed unnaturally enraged panda species? Well good! Go buy this stupid game. Thanks Japan, you blew it again.

there's 1 urn left in the wudang mountains and the game and i dont no where in what level is!
At the end of the story where you have to fight the boss, you can make his move miss.
Where is Po's father. I didnt hear it when they said where he was being held prisoner.
It's easy! Po's father is imprisoned in the Bandit Lair, located in the heart of the bamboo forest.
k i am on this 1 level and i don't c anyway i can get 2 the exit in time and i am guessing the other door is important in some way and i don't kno how 2 open it! i am missin somethin plz help me!!!
hi does anyone know how to beat ti lung if u do can you please tell me ? .
stuck at 99% 1 segment of medalion missing where are the segments hidden use the powder keg you need to kill him 4 times to continue omg i will die before 4 times
I need to make the tiger flip perfectly its impossible can anyone help

The Panda was a charmable animal found in Factions areas, but was removed from the game prior to release. The panda was removed from the game prior to release because of local laws: in China you are not allowed to depict the death of an endangered species (such as the panda) in a video game. This pet is still attainable in the form of a Miniature Panda. There was also a full sized panda during the Farewell to Gaile event in Shing Jea Monastery. See Panda (collector).

The gameplay is your basic 3D adventure, full of coin and item collection to break up the enemy bashing. Gamers can use the coins they collect towards post-level (or pause-screen, for impatient folks) upgrades to Po's skills and abilities, adding a little RPG flair to the game's basic adventure feel. The game offers so much in the way of upgrades that most gamers will need to play through the game a second time to attain enough coins to unlock everything. Thanks to an easy-to-use control scheme, entertaining gameplay, and the game's sparkling personality you will want to play through more than once.

Maybe it's because I saw "Death Panda" over at GuroChan recently, but when I saw that screenshot up there, the first thing to pop into my sick mind was that Jack Black-voiced panda grabbing the alligator by it's jaws, tearing it in half vertically, then scrubbing himself in the resulting shower of blood. And wouldn't THAT be a nice change of pace from this year's obligatory CG talking animal movie? "Oh look, kids! Jack Black Panda is about to fight that- OH MY GOD! He tore that alligator in half and he's bathing it's blood! Oh wait...what's he going to do to that monkey? He's not going to hurt the- Oh dear lord! He's skull-fing the monkey! He's skull-fing the poor little monkey! Why?! Why is he skull-fing the monkey?!"

man, this sounds like it's based on a video game already:) I mean kung fu anthropomorphic animals have been the stars of at least a couple dozen old school 8 or 16 bit games back in the day. Hopefully it will mean a fun game - that's all I want.

EDIT: The developer, XPEC, did this previous awesome game! <http://cube.ign.com/objects/743/743601.html>. Also, Bounty Hounds for PSP, but my link is waaay awosomer:) [-] Minimize Comment

If you are looking for a good gift idea for a boy that you know, then you should think about getting him the Kung Fu Panda Cologne for Boys. This cologne is a good choice because it is a great way for you to introduce that young man to the world of caring for his appearance. This is one lesson that this young boy will be able to carry with him throughout his entire life. Imagine being able to do something as small as just purchasing a boy his first cologne, yet knowing that you played a huge part in his growing up to be a man that cares about his appearance.

When a young man begins to grow up he will really appreciate getting more grown up gifts. That's one more reason why you should think about getting him his very own cologne and the Kung Fu Panda Cologne for Boys is the perfect choice. It has a fragrance that has been designed for young men that are wearing cologne for the very first time. It isn't too strong and has a nice and youthful style of scent about it.

Once you give a boy the gift of their very first cologne, you will be opening them up to a whole new world. Don't be surprised if they begin wanting to take more time with their hair and clothing. Once they realize that they are young men that are now old enough to begin caring about such things as cologne, they will want to take more pride in other areas of their appearance. In this way, getting them their own bottle of Kung Fu Panda Cologne for Boys will be the gift that will keep on giving. This is also a unique gift that you can be almost positive won't be duplicated.

The advanced moves are impressive (Panda Stumble) and funny (Panda Quake) and create some challenges when actually executing them in battle. Panda is rated E10+ (Everyone 10 and older) by the ESRB for Fantasy Violence and Mild Language.

One MAJOR annoying part is the font they use for giving on-screen instructions and the story line... they wanted it to look "Chinese-y", and the letters are too thin and small and that will make it quite hard for my kids to read it. I could play the game without getting really close to the TV, but if I wanted to read it, I had to be just a couple feet away to make out what it was saying.

Rating: 4 / 5

Kung Fu Panda World, a browser-based world that has been in development for two-years, will monetize via long-term and one-day subscriptions. The project, targeted for kids ages 8-12, will have a high level of parental controls, says USA Today. Says former EA exec John Batter, now co-president of production for feature animation, Panda "provided a really excellent framework for a virtual world; all the elements were there. We want the kids to take over from there and make it their own."

Mattel 3Q profit declines 3 percent; Barbie not immune to recession as sales fall

NEW YORK -- Mattel Inc., the largest U.S. toymaker, said Friday its fiscal third-quarter profit declined 3 percent as the tough economy dampened demand for key brands like Barbie and Fisher-Price.

Chief Executive Robert A. Eckert said Friday that revenue "continues to be challenging this year" because of the economy, stronger dollar and a lack of toys tied to hot movies and other entertainment.

A year ago, results were boosted by toys tied to movies including "Kung Fu Panda," "Speed Racer" and "The Dark Knight."

The Next Big Browser Based Game: Kung Fu Panda?

Posted on March 31, 2010 by randomgeek1

Yes, you read that correctly. You can now join the Beta Test for Kung Fu Panda Online.

Read more about it here: http://news.bbgsite.com/content/2010-03-29/kung_fu_panda_world_enters_open_beta_test,1.shtml

Well, it would sure be a complete change of pace from Travian.

I recently attended the launch event for Kung Fu Panda World from Dreamworks, hosted by Alphamom's Isabel Kallman. This browser-based online world lets kids play games, chat with friends, trade goods, master kung fu styles, get a pet or explore the Kung Fu Panda world. Chose from 3 kung fu styles (Tiger, Monkey and Panda) — each offering a different game experience. More styles will be introduced in the future.

I loved the safety features. As a mom of a 4 1/2 year old who now uses the computer regularly — I liked the Parent Panel. It lets parents oversee and manage their child's account. Parents can choose how much time (including daily access) their children can have and parents can see their child's progress on the site. I also liked that it's browser-based, so nothing is downloaded or installed. Also, no personal information is solicited or shared and chat is filtered and monitored. The site closes at 9pm every night.

Parents can purchase a monthly subscription ($5.99 per month), but before committing, the site does allow a child to try it free for the day.

A New Centercode Beta Opportunity - Kung Fu Panda World from DreamWorks Animation!

March 25, 2010

Centercode and DreamWorks Animation have expanded the testing of Kung Fu Panda World - a brand new online world targeted to kids! We invite you or your kids to experience Kung Fu Panda World during a free preview being conducted. Simply visit the link below and when prompted, enter the code sneakpeek . This code will grant access for a month to Kung Fu Panda World.

As you are among the first to experience Kung Fu Panda World, we are interested to hear your feedback (tell us about your experience - everything from in-world gameplay to customer support). You may send your comments to kfpwfeedback@dreamworks.com or join the Kung Fu Panda World project in Centercode's system. Please click the following link to join the game.

http://www.kungfupandaworld.com/?camp_id=centercode&camp_medium=email&camp_source=centercode+betatesters&camp_content=soft+launch

The site will be operational between 3:00am – 9:00pm (PDT).

This preview is a test session. Dreamworks is monitoring their system for issues and there may be periods of down time or other problems. However, the game is open and operational over the next 30 days for your enjoyment.
If you were engaged in earlier stages of this test, you do not need to re-join the test. Simply use this new code and link to join. If you have not been involved, you DO NOT need to use the Centercode system to participate. However, we are providing a forum and feedback form to share any issues or concerns you have with the game.

How to Download "Kung Fu Panda" Full Movie Safely Online

Downloading a movie like "Kung Fu Panda" can be dangerous. There are a multitude of "free" download sites out there that are nothing more than scams and virus breeding grounds. In order to remain safe, it is key that you know what factors to consider when choosing a safe and reliable movie download site.

Download speed is a very important factor. Movies like "Kung Fu Panda" are considerable in size so you will need a site that offer unlimited bandwidth. Also check that there are no content, search or time limitations.

Picture quality is also very important. Watching poor quality movies is far from enjoyable so you should make sure the site offers DVD quality movie downloads. Anything less than DVD quality should be avoided as it's a waste of time and money.

Movie selection is another important factor to consider. All the bandwidth in the world is useless without a large selection of movies to choose from. The top movie download sites grant access to over 80 million files. These files contain movie, television shows, sporting events, music and more!

The most important thing is to avoid self-proclaimed "free" download sites. These sites are almost always a scam and will only serve to cause harm to yourself or your computer. It is a much better idea to invest in a movie download site that charges a small one time membership fee. Within a few downloads you will be saving money over going to your local theater, especially with the current state of gas prices.

With that said, there is really nothing else to do except enjoy a few movies.

Can i play kung fu panda in my acer travel mate 6292?

I wanted to play Kung Fu Panda in my laptop but it seems the graphics does not support it so i want to upgrade it. Is it possible to do that? Or is there any other way by which I can play the game in my laptop without doing the upgrade?

Although this is not a martial arts question I will give you some advice.

Panda Warrior Ninja The legend of the Fufu United Ninja All-Stars:

Boom boom boom! Imagine a big fat panda jumping high into the air and killing everything in sight when he slams back to the ground. It is a firm tribute to the original Ninja Duels by ThredNThrash. Adding a bit of humor to the game, this panda ninja was inspired by the 12 Pandarens custom map and subsequently by DotA's Pandaren Battlemaster. The animated movie called Kung Fu Panda got the idea years later.

Gu Piao Panda is a three-minute short film, which links Po to China's unsound stock market and tells a parallel story about stock panda. The story starts from a scene that Po was a legend in the stock market, but it turns out that it is just a dream. In reality, he is a rookie stock investor and his money is all tied up in stock because of the global recession. Po is so sad that he goes back home to talk to his goose father and his father persuades him to withdraw money from the stock market because of the bearish market situation. Po has a strong belief that he will become a guru in the financial world someday and the only reason he hasn't achieved that yet is because he hasn't met his teacher. His father has no choice and encourages him to attend a stock master competition at somewhere in the mountain. Po tries so hard to get into the competition and there are three competitive groups --- the happiness group with monkey in it, the fighting group with tiger in it and the desire group with red crowned crane in it. These three groups represent the three different types of stock operators. Then, Po attends the competition and finally his teacher finds him and teaches him how to become a successful fund manger. In the vid, the creator doesn't show an ending in the video, and instead he poses a question that if Po will become a stock master finally.

In other vids such as Real Estate Price, the key character panda is portrayed as a junior real estate developer who finally becomes a hero to save the real estate from subprime lending crisis. Moreover, the storylines of the two movies are very similar. Specifically, Gu Piao Panda creates a story that Po is a rookie stock operator who wants to become a stock master. In Kung Fu Panda, Po is a worker at his father's noodle restaurant who wants to become a kungfu fighter. Also, they both fight for an evil in the two videos. In Gu Piao Panda, he fights for the stagnant stock market. In Kung Fu Panda, he fights for Tai Lung. Furthermore, Po attends the competition to become a master in two movies either as a kung fu master or financial guru. In the original movie, he fights for a kung fu secret book. In the vid, he fights for two cars as the competition awards. When examining the video clips, it is apparent that fans use the same video clip to convey the same meaning in the different context. They just choose the video clips they like from the original movie to tell their stories. Other vids such as Real Estate Price, Kung Fu Competition, Certificates are all associated with the current social issues to tell different stories.

This parody is so popular that fans keep spreading it online because there's so much fun in the video. Some popular terms and events used in this vid are funny in the context of Chinese culture. For example, they use the word "Niu Bi" (newby) to describe how successful Po is in the stock market in his dreams. They also use the word "Tao" (trapped in the market) to explain that his money is all tied up to the stock account. Real figures are also incorporated to make the audiences feel more attached to the story. For instance, Po's goose father persuades him to withdraw the money because the current stock index is above 2000 points - which is where the Chinese stock market was registering at that time when this vid was made. In addition, they use Dong Bei language, a northern Chinese dialect that often associated with Chinese cross talk to voice over the video. This brought more joy to the audiences, especially during the global depression era.

Gu Piao Panda and other vids are great examples showing that Chinese fans' role has changed from audience to active producers. They are not just passively receiving the information, but becoming publishers. The Internet has become a platform for them to distribute their works. This emerges an Internet culture called kuso, which is very popular in China. Kuso, originated from a Japanese word, is a popular subculture in China that deconstructs serious themes to entertain people (Wiki, 2009). Some interesting quotes from ESWN Culture Blog that can explain the popularity of Chinese kuso culture are, "Kuso is people deconstruct burning satire." "Kuso is an art criticism loved by people". "Kuso is people's ordinary, yet interesting, spiritual pursuit." (Soong, Roland & Qing, Huang, 2006)

This cute panda hat will give you a chance to change yourself into a cute panda ^_^ . Panda is a precious treasure of China. It is a very cute and funny animal. People love them not only the Chinese people but also the other countries. This item is a cute and vivid panda hat is made of artificial wool and tea color glass eyes. Each side has wide band which connected with velcro fasteners, very easy to wear. It has an inner perimeter of 22". In this coming Halloween day, dress your kid with this cute panda hat, give him/her a wonderful memory.

Panda pattern
One size
Material: Plush (Artificial wool) Perimeter: 22"
Preparation time: 2-3 working days

This summer while I was traveling in Beijing China I found this AMAZING panda hat. When I saw this Panda hat and knew I had to have it. I knew it would be the perfect accessory to wear to SF Giants games this season since the SF Giants star player this year, Pablo Sandoval, currently holds the nick name of the (Kung Fu) Panda. Every time I wore the hat to the park it was a hit. People would take pictures of the hat and everyone asked what stand I bought it at. When I told them I bought it in China I received many puzzled looks. Soon enough the hats were being sold outside the park and panda hats were soon the norm. I sure didn't invent this amazing hat but I believe I may have had something to do with the panda hat trend at AT&T park. I think I was the O.G. ;)

Ancillary merchandise is indeed a money maker, but is it a core money maker? Is it enough to keep the business moving forward as an uninterrupted going concern, making new works of art and being a viable entity in the marketplace? I have my doubts. I think there will continue to be 'massive' entertainment, that appeals to a broad-based audience made on a very high budget (Things like Kung Fu Panda, Lost, Dark Knight, etc etc.) but more and more, as you say

So in "Kung Fu Panda" and "biological human" looms, the "Little Henry" in the leading rank of the League of Nations to combat the gap has narrowed to 0.011 in.

Look i'll be the first to admit I'm a massive fan of Asian/eastern culture in general and understand how being represented in WoW as a culturally amalgamated giant panda could be seen by certain key demographics as "insulting" or "unsavoury" especially when that character type is seen as a secretive & aggressive sword wielding drunkard hiding in seclusion and refusing to interact in any real way with the rest of the world...

...You can see why this could potentially hit a few raw nerves cant you?

None the less Blizz has decided to launch its pet store and in effect admit that:

- * pandarens still exist in WoW
- * they are willing to accept the mixed cultural roots of the race
- * that at least one Pandaren is willing to make contact with the wider game world.

So How long do we have to wait before Hyjal is opened up and we find a race of furry panda people swinging katana's and bowing politely while knocking back ridiculously strong panda brew and handing out quests in a slightly upturned inflection?

We get it, its a little racist, i really dont think anyone cares anymore...

"The McDonald's 'Kung Fu Panda' Happy Meal event is all about having fun," said Kathy Pyle, senior director of marketing, McDonald's USA.

i got a happy meal at mcdonalds and we got a toy from the movie "kung fu panda" and he touched my boobs. hence why ryan is killing him.

Skunk Fu! A tepid knock-off where a fat panda is a kung fu master... hmm, anyone remember Kung Fu Panda? What a pointless rip-off. Take it off the air, CN.

the Panda Printing Ink Co. Ltd (Panda)

Panda Printing Ink Co. Ltd

Panda Printing Ink Co. Ltd (Panda) is currently a state-owned enterprise. It was originally founded in 1916 but has gone through several changes in ownership since that time. Table IV provides a chronological summary of the changes in ownership. The case analysis concentrates on the period when it was privately owned (a Sino-Swiss joint venture) and when it again became State-owned.

At the end of December 2002 Panda had about 700 employees, among which about 500 were full time. The other 200 persons were retirees and laid-off workers. On the basis of average sales per employee Panda can be considered as overstaffed when compared with its major competitors, DIC and Hangzhou Toka, which are Sino-Japanese joint venture companies. Table VII shows the comparison of sales turnover and profit generated per employee among major Chinese printing ink companies in 2000.

Marketing capabilities play an important role in the Chinese printing ink sector since product differentiation is not a prominent factor. Most customers are not price sensitive because printing ink represents a very small fraction of the total cost of the end products. They will select suppliers based on reputation, service and speed of delivery, quality and consistency of their products. Working relations between the company and its customers are also important. Panda's products have been selling in China since the mid 1950s. The company and its products have a good reputation, especially in the conventional printing ink segment, and it has a good understanding of the Chinese market. Communications between the front line sales force and the management team was prompt and efficient. Effective communications have laid a solid platform for the company to obtain first hand knowledge about the market.

Panda is able to produce goods of consistent quality. Its ability to control the production process has paved the way to maintaining a leading market position in the conventional inks sector. It also has a superior ability in mass customisation. Its ability to deliver goods on a just-in-time basis has enabled it to be the market leader in conventional printing inks. The production manager believed that its close co-operation and intensive communication among different departmental staff have provided the foundation for the company to be agile. Panda benefited from the change in ownership status from a private joint venture back to SOE and the consequent re-establishment of mutual trust among employees after the change. In the mid 1990s Panda had an experience of outsourcing some of its conventional products to two contract manufacturers. However, after three years of cooperation with the two companies, it discovered that they were marketing conventional printing inks with equivalent quality standard to that of Panda. One of its contract manufacturers subsequently became one of the top 12 selling companies in 2002, whereas before using Panda's technology it was only ranked number 30.

Kung Fu Panda is a fun statement of secular humanism.

I'm in panda express and human just came on.

"Hi," I said. "I'd like to take a picture with you for my mom's birthday, but I have to go home and get a sign first, one that says Happy Birthday Mom. Of course I'll pay you. Can we do that?" The panda nodded. I wondered if the panda suit contained a man or a woman. "Are you on your way to the park?" The panda nodded. "So I can find you there? Near the Statues of Liberty, maybe?" The panda nodded.

I am ISO the Kung Fu Panda tokens that were printed on several different Kellogg's cereals about a month or so ago. It was collect 8 and get a free Kung Fu Panda blanket, I was able to collect 4..so im looking for 4 more.

Binding : Toy

ProductGroup : Baby Product

Model : LC27012

Features expressive face and soft features.

The panda comes complete with multiple textures and sounds to keep baby entertained.

My baby boy loves this panda--we hang it on his car seat and he smiles and talks to it while we're driving. So cute!

She loves to hold the panda, suck on its face and legs, squeeze its crinkly parts (hand and feet), and chew on the plastic teething ring. This has been a great toy.

My dog, Thor, just loves this panda. He carries it around, runs with it, chews on the stomach to make it squeak, and uses it as nucker when he is getting ready to go to bed. If this toy is durable enough and provides enough joy for my dog, it will definitely be a favorite for any kid!!

Presumably a few hundred of these babies were sent out to critics around the country – and with shipping and whatnot, that's a hefty chunk of cash for a silly marketing gimmick.

The sweet little panda is definitely getting a more mature image. I feel she is somewhat maligned in certain circles. Maybe as she gets older people will start to appreciate her more. Don't get me wrong I don't think that a persons worth is just through looks -- besides I think she's adorable now in a little sister kind of way - I just think that as she gets older she's really going to surprise people. Just wait and see.

Lesser Panda is the less expensive version of the famous Panda Brand cigarettes. Their logo is two pandas, drawn by a famous Chinese artist that was persecuted during the Cultural Revolution because of his Swedish in-laws. Later, after Mao's death, he moved back to Shanghai and lived a quiet life painting his landscapes.

Investors hoping for a return of the bubble years shouldn't be fooled by China's enticing loan growth figures

Andy Xie
Updated on May 04, 2009

So many people now trapped in structured products are pinning all their hopes on a bubble revival to release them from looming poverty. All eyes are on China's eye-popping loan growth figures. Imagine if all that money goes into the stock and property market. ("Wow, all that panda juice! We're saved!" a friend remarked to me). Are Chinese banks the kung fu pandas coming to the rescue?

So that was it. At only 19 minutes this is the shortest episode I've seen. It was also probably the least entertaining Moutube episode. Reina looked good. So did Ai. But the only one to raise a laugh was little panda Mitsui. I know I don't speak Japanese so may be missing out on a lot (when you see subtitled episodes you realise just how much you do miss) but even so there was very little 'outside' talent on show and what the girls got to do was minimally entertaining to say the least.

Panda bears. On drugs. Getting ready to beat people up. How can I possibly make this any more clear?

功夫熊貓

[BeautifulBlurredPanda.jpg]

我伸了個懶腰，正要回頭問士杰是哪一部電影時，迎面走來端著啤酒的空姐正好介入了我和士杰談話的時空點上，直到他端著另一瓶空罐離開後，我回頭看到士杰正拿著剛才送來的那瓶啤酒，大笑著跟我說「功夫熊貓真的很好笑」。回過頭後，我仔細想想，才發現士杰已經很久沒有這麼開心了。

I伸了个懶腰，turned around and asked about a movie which Shijie, the head of the flight attendants walked holding beer and I just Shijie involved in space-time point of conversation until he holding a bottle cans left, I looked back to see Shijie are just sent out of the bottle with beer, big smile, told me that "Kung Fu Panda is really very funny." Looking back, I thought about it, only to find Shijie has been a long time not so happy.

hedorah55 I like your observation that the life of these texts takes place in the distance
28 minutes ago via web

hedorah55 in the middle distance maybe
27 minutes ago via web

hedorah55 that reading is peripheral or "extensive" as I've been thinking lately
27 minutes ago via web

hedorah55 far-ranging, continuous
27 minutes ago via web

hedorah55 shallow, marked by lassitude
27 minutes ago via web

hedorah55 like an RSS feed
26 minutes ago via web

hedorah55 text falling around us in a way that does not demand to be read
26 minutes ago via web

hedorah55 and not "intensive" as it was in Discourse Network 1900 or what we usually call Modernity
26 minutes ago via web

hedorah55 Elspeth Jajdelska suggests a tipping point in the growth of fluent reading in the late 1700s
24 minutes ago via web

hedorah55 at this moment, the reader shifts from the position of "speaker" to "hearer," and the narrator is born
24 minutes ago via web

hedorah55 it strikes me that at present, reading happens around us
24 minutes ago via web

hedorah55 a blue illumination as Miyazawa Kenji sez
24 minutes ago via web

hedorah55 that other people read or seem to be reading
23 minutes ago via web

hedorah55 all partial, marked by lassitude
23 minutes ago via web

hedorah55 that reading happens in the aggregate
23 minutes ago via web

hedorah55 that we move thru it as thru a landscape
23 minutes ago via web

hedorah55 leaving, taking bits
23 minutes ago via web

hedorah55 at this moment, the reader shifts from the position of "hearer" to "overhearer," and networked writing is born
23 minutes ago via web

hedorah55 what was left was like a field as Ashbery sez
22 minutes ago via web

hedorah55 shut your eyes, and you can feel it for miles around

22 minutes ago via web

hedorah55 which flickers busily, busily
22 minutes ago via web

hedorah55 with landscapes, with everyone
22 minutes ago via web

hedorah55 but it must also be true that this echo persists even when we are offline, afk
21 minutes ago via web

hedorah55 that the conditions of "meaning" in what we read have changed with our orientation toward the text
21 minutes ago via web

hedorah55 it strikes me that at present, texts do not present a series of meanings but a series of programs
19 minutes ago via web

hedorah55 that reading burns a silent ring into the brain
19 minutes ago via web

hedorah55 a program that gets replayed, passed on, repeated
19 minutes ago via web

hedorah55 I can't tell you working on Panda: how much explicit repetition takes place
19 minutes ago via web

hedorah55 this is certainly true of the copy Dreamworks commissioned, which is posted and reposted everywhere
18 minutes ago via web

hedorah55 moreso and more importantly of the millions of "original" responses to the movie
18 minutes ago via web

hedorah55 reviews, blog entries, comments, forum posts, pages and groups
18 minutes ago via web

hedorah55 thru which the same words and phrases circulate incessantly

"More exactly, an inscription device is any item of apparatus or particular configuration of such items which can transform a material substance into a figure or diagram which is directly useable by one of the members of the office space... One important feature of the use of inscription devices in the laboratory is that once the end product, an inscription, is available, all the intermediary steps which made its production possible are forgotten. The bench space will be forgotten, and the existence of laboratories will fade from consideration. Instead, 'ideas,' 'theories,' and 'reasons' will take their place."

Panda Burning Incense Computer Virus
熊猫烧香病毒

Core tips Panda Burning Incense

长江商报7月20日报道 2006年12月至2007年1月, 那是一段中国网民遭遇浩劫的日子。
Changjiang Daily reported July 20 From December 2006 to January 2007, it was a day of Internet users in China hit catastrophe.

“黑客”出身的李俊研制病毒, 碰上了擅长“病毒商业运作”的“生意人”王磊和张顺, 两者在“暴利”诱惑下的结合, 最终引发了“熊猫烧香”席卷网络的灾难。短短的两个多月时间, 该病毒不断入侵个人电脑、感染门户网站、击溃数据系统, 上千万台次的电脑遭到病毒攻击和破坏, 给众多个人用户、网吧及企业局域网用户带来巨大的损失, 被《2006年度中国大陆地区电脑病毒疫情和互联网安全报告》评为“毒王”。

"Hacker", who developed the Li-virus, hit a good "viral commercial operation" and "businessmen" Wang Lei and Zhang, both in the "profiteering" Lured by the combination of the ultimate cause of the "Panda burning incense" swept across the network disaster. A short period of more than two months time, the virus continued invasion of personal computers infected with portals, routed data system, tens of millions of units times the computer has been virus attacks and damage to a number of individual users, Internet cafes and corporate LAN users a huge losses, was "the year 2006 computer virus outbreak in mainland China and Internet security report" as "Du Wang."

从案发到现在, 两年半过去了, 猖獗的“熊猫烧香”病毒已经被消灭。该案3名案犯相继出狱, 只有“毒王”李俊仍在服刑改造。近日, 本报记者经过辗转联系, 先后与李俊、雷磊、张顺等3人首次面对面, 他们讲述了鲜为人知的作案细节, 真实地还原了“熊猫烧香”的诞生和灭亡过程, 这也是他们首次直面媒体。

From the incident to the present, two and a half later, the rampant "Panda burning incense" virus had already been eliminated. The case have three criminals released from prison, only "Du Wang," Li still serving their sentences modified. Recently, the reporter was removed after contact, later worked with Li, Lei Lei, Zhang Shun and other three were for the first time face to face, they described the little-known details of committing the crime, the real way to restore the "Panda burning incense" in the process of birth and destruction This is also the first time they face the media.

简单心态的罪恶演变, 源于认识擅长“病毒商业运作”的王磊和张顺。在“暴利”的诱惑下, 他们的结合, 最终引发一场中国网络灾难。

The evolution of a simple criminal mentality stems from good understanding of "viral commercial operation" Wang Lei and Zhang. In the "profiteering" the temptation, their combination and ultimately trigger a Chinese network of disaster.

大约两个月后, 也就是2006年11月, 李俊基本完成了“熊猫烧香”病毒。在编写病毒的日子里, 除了吃饭、睡觉, 其余时间他就坐在电脑前查资料, 编写代码。

About two months later, in November 2006, Li basically completed the "Panda burning incense" virus. Days in the preparation of the virus, in addition to eating, sleeping, rest of the time he sat on the front of the computer to conduct research, write the code.

雷磊说, 李俊大部分是模仿“尼姆达”病毒编写“熊猫烧香”。李俊说, “熊猫烧香”是经过多种途径交叉感染的超级病毒, 它可通过U盘、局域网感染, 也可通过点击网页感染, 总之, 现今病毒感染的所有方式, “熊猫烧香”都具备了。

Lei Lei said that Li most of imitation "Nimda" virus writing "Panda burning incense." Li said, "Panda burning incense" is a cross-infection through a variety of ways a super virus, it can be through U disk, LAN infections can also be infected by clicking on the page, in short, all the way today's virus infection, "Panda burning incense" are available a.

2006年12月底开始, “熊猫烧香”病毒以闪电的速度, 在全国网络间传播。李俊说, “每天, 熊猫烧香病毒可获取30万到50万的电脑流量, 也就是说, 全国每天有30万到50万的电脑系统被击溃, 若按一个月算的话, 全国至少1000万台次电脑遭到了熊猫烧香病毒的攻击和破坏。”

By the end of December 2006 the beginning, "Panda burning incense" virus with lightning speed, the network spread across the country. Li said, "Every day, FUJacks.exe may obtain 300000-500000 computer traffic, that is, the national daily 300000-500000's computer system has been defeated, if the count by one month, then at least the national 10 million units of the computer was a Panda burning incense virus attacks and sabotage."

李俊说, 全国的媒体疯狂报道“熊猫烧香”时, 一种从未有过的快感从他心头涌起, “看到很多公司手忙脚乱的时候, 我觉得特别好玩, 感觉很好笑”。

Li said that the national media coverage crazy "Panda burning incense", the kind never seen before from his heart filled with pleasure, "see a lot of companies running around in circles, I find it particularly fun, feels good laugh."

李俊的“野心”膨胀，他要与国内主要杀毒软件公司进行较量，让杀毒软件公司发布“熊猫烧香”病毒公告。”据了解，就在熊猫烧香病毒肆虐时，李俊曾不断更新病毒，在网上与瑞星公司进行较量，直至被捕。

Li's "ambitious" expansion, he wants to with the major domestic anti-virus software companies to compete, so that anti-virus software companies release "Panda burning incense" Virus Bulletin. "It is understood that, on the FuckJacks.exe unfold, Li has continually updated the virus, in-line with the company Rising contest before the arrest.

“熊猫烧香”病毒 是一种蠕虫病毒的变种，而且是经过多次变种而来的。尼姆亚变种W(Worm.Nimaya.w)，由于中毒电脑的可执行文件会出现“熊猫烧香”图案，所以也被称为“熊猫烧香”病毒。

"Panda burning incense" worm virus is a variant of the virus, but also comes after several variants. Ni Muya variant W (Worm.Nimaya.w), due to poisoning in the computer executable file will appear "Panda burning incense" pictorial, so it is called "Panda burning incense" virus.

用户电脑中毒后可能会出现蓝屏、频繁重启以及系统硬盘中数据文件被破坏等现象。同时，该病毒的某些变种可通过局域网进行传播，进而感染局域网内所有计算机系统，最终导致企业局域网瘫痪，无法正常使用，它能感染系统中exe、com、pif、src、html、asp等文件，它还能中止大量的反病毒软件进程并且会删除扩展名为gho的文件。被感染的用户系统中所有.exe可执行文件全部被改成熊猫举着三根香的模样。

A user's computer after poisoning may appear a blue screen, frequent restart and the system hard drive data file is damaged and so on. At the same time, some variant of the virus can be transmitted through the local area network, which would infect all the computers within a local area network system, eventually leading to the corporate LAN paralyzed and unable to work properly, it can infect systems in the exe, com, pif, src, html, asp and other documents It can also suspend the process of a large number of anti-virus software and will remove the gho file extension. The infected user's system for all. Exe executable files have all been changed to panda holding three incense looks like.

Here are a lot more variations:

[PandaBurningIncenseVariations.jpg]

But in practice, you wouldn't want to see one of these pandas flashing on your computer monitor screen. If you see it, it means that your computer has been hit by the "Joss-stick burning panda" virus (some variant of the worm known as Nimaya). This is not an easy virus to eliminate because any attempt to run any kind of .exe file will only bring up the cute panda on your computer screen. If you see the graphic, it is too late already!

a deadly earthquake that measured at 8.0 Ms[1][9][10] and 7.9 Mw[11][12] occurred at 14:28:01.42 CST (06:28:01.42 UTC)[13] on May 12, 2008 in Sichuan province of China and killed at least 68,000 people.[6] The earthquake occurred as the result of motion on a northeast striking reverse fault or thrust fault from the strike of the Indian Plate onto the Eurasian Plate and its northward push on the northwestern margin of the Sichuan Basin. The inter-plate relative motion caused large scale structural deformation inside the Asian continent, resulting in a thinning crust of the Qinghai-Tibet Plateau, the uplift of its landscape and an eastward extrude. The earthquake's epicenter and focal-mechanism are consistent with it having occurred as the result of movement on the Longmenshan fault or a tectonically related fault. The epicenter was in the mountains of the Eastern Margin of Qing-Tibet Plateau at the northwest margin of the Sichuan Basin.

Panda: It is a large animal found in China. It's diet is mainly bamboo.

the main intention & work of panda is to EAT ... even in real life their main work its to eat thats all...

Pandas are endangered, smartly decorated and reassuringly vegetarian. Kids everywhere, adults too, are crazy about them. That's why China can get away with leasing them to foreign zoos for $1-million (U.S.) a year.

You should find the name roly poly in chinese since everyone is calling him that i think it is a good name but will sound better as roly poly in chinese my mom and i want to eat him up and just smother him in kisses (but not as much as bai does, poor thing has saliva fur! lol) and boy he is the biggest one of the bunch as he is a male i assume but he is just so cute. also at night are there people on the panda cam to watch him i notice that when bai leaves the cam doesn't zoom in on him?

roly poly sounds to me like “滚滚 (guin guin)” in Chinese, means “strong & round” and also “rolling and rolling”. In China, it is a very popular and loving nickname for pandas, simply because they are so roly poly and like doing somersaults, and rolling and rolling on the slopes. This baby is indeed a little “滚滚” :)

Taiwan By The Numbers (12/25/2008) (TVBS) (1,373 persons age 20 or over interviewed on December 23, 2008. Telephone numbers were drawn randomly from the telephone directory, and then the last 4 digits were randomized.)

Q1. Do you know that two panda named Tuan Tuan and Yuan Yuan were sent this afternoon from mainland China to Taiwan?

90%: Yes

10%: No

Q2. Do you welcome the pandas to come to Taiwan?

63%: Yes

15%: No

21%: No opinion

Q3. Will you go to the Taipei zoo to view the pandas?

52%: Yes

44%: No

4%: No opinion

Q4. Do you think that Taiwan's position has been dwarfed as a result of the pandas coming over from mainland China?

25%: Yes

59%: No

17%: No opinion

Q5. Do you think that the coming of the pandas is a normal cross-strait exchange or a mainland unification ruse?

59%: Normal cross-strait exchange

22%: Mainland unification ruse

19%: No opinion

They are fucking cute: everybody loves a panda. 其實沒人說我們能當功夫熊貓。在西方的現實體系裏，不是可愛熊貓，而是讓人恐懼的、或者是悲情的熊貓。如果實在要畫一幅圖像的話，我想，應該是，山姆大叔講教熊貓，讓他不要搗蛋了，好好練功夫，造福世界。

Hoping a cuddly black-and-white national treasure will again produce Chinese box-office gold, Walt Disney Studios is releasing "Trail of the Panda" here Friday (May 8). The release precedes by days the first anniversary of the deadly earthquake that uprooted the endangered species' home. It follows by almost a year the record-breaking box-office run of DreamWorks Animation's "Kung Fu Panda," which earned more than $14.7 million in China last summer.

So this Hollywood is not stopping at exploiting and rejoining at the the disaster in China. It is now coming to dig gold in post-disaster China.

'Panda' bounds into Chinese theaters.

Most of the pandas at the center were transferred. The panda above was the first we saw. We all love baby pandas right. Thirteen baby pandas born after the devastating earthquake that hit China's Sechuan province last may were on Saturday brought to a sanctuary which aims to "teach" them how to survive in the wild. Giant panda. Giant panda having lunch. The Sichuan earthquake that happen in 2008 really affect the giant panda. Coz in Sichuan has a Wolong Piant Panda Reserve Center. That center is a home to 86 giant panda. Thank god all 86 giant panda has survive the earthquake.

As shooting wound down in the Wolong Giant Panda Nature Reserve in southwest China's Sichuan province, an 8.0 quake struck May 12, killing more than 70,000 people in the area.

Twenty-eight members of the film's crew abandoned B-roll film and equipment and hiked through the mountains for three days before they were rescued by the Chinese military.

The "Trail" film crew lived with the pandas and their caretakers for four months under strict supervision. The penalty in China for panda poaching is public execution.

"We were toward the tail end of the shoot, with maybe five days to go, when the earth began to shake and just didn't stop," said Ying Dong CEO Jennifer Liu, a former Disney employee who wrote and produced the film.

Shot in Mandarin, "Panda" was dubbed into Cantonese for south China moviegoers and for its Hong Kong release. Depending on its performance at the Chinese boxoffice, it will be dubbed by Disney into other languages for distribution overseas, Liu said.

Though the six pandas used to play the film's star, Pang Pang ("Chubby" in Chinese) survived. The panda that portrayed the mother of the twin cubs was killed.

Giant pandas 熊猫. Giant pandas 熊猫. Giant pandas 熊猫.

how do we know that panda are protected and care in zoo?

can we tell the panda future ?

can help their environment can help support it ?

these panda are loving care protectives animal .

The panda is gentle and lovely.

The panda bears are so lovely as to make people melt.

Whereas the current saying is that the Chinese people are the "descendants of the dragon," will they become the "descendants of the panda" in the future?

The simple and honest panda with two black eyes looks like a sissy. Worse yet, the panda is a vegetarian.

On May 17, the following blog post appeared at Xanga. Here is a translated excerpt.

The 5.12 Sichuan earthquake is the talk of the town

People around the world have noted an amount of money to the 'people' of Sichuan how come nobody is donating any money to the Sichuan pandas?

on 5.16 the morning school assembly held some who-know-what-thing for Sichuan

there was a film clip about people crying their crying was laughable and i had a few chuckles

i can say that i have no feelings for Sichuan what the hell is this to me?

i can laugh when i watch the news

i do not feel any sadness or sympathy why should i make myself unhappy?

am i supposed to cry for the rest of the week?

enough money has been donated, so why should i have to donate as well? are you crazy?

i don't have enough money to spend myself, so why should i give it someone else? you people are stupid

i never realized how cool it was for me not to donate money while others do everybody is donating so it does not matter what one person does or not even if i don't donate there was more than 36,000 already

Sichuan is going to be rich overseas they are giving American dollars, euros, British pounds isn't there enough RMB already?

things are cheaper on mainland China

so they must have enough

do you want to take in even more money? if so, please give it to the pandas

the panda is a unique Chinese animal that is under global protected status it is a waste of money to spend it on the dead cities of Sichuan the more people die, the less crowded the hospitals become there is no worry about no available space to put people no worry about lack of materials, no worry about over-population few people needs less waste discharge don't you agree that death is better?

if one more death does not matter, then five thousand more should be okay too

it is the mainland's fault to be so corrupt they can die but why should we get involved?

our money is not intended for corpses

how about them making some contributions to society first?

please do not blindly feel that they deserve pity

if you stupid, you can donate everything you own actually the state is donating tens of millions so who is your $10 going to help?

PS So please don't be stupid, please don't donate money pointlessly

This blog post was quickly cross-posted at the various Hong Kong discussion forums and drew strong netizen criticisms. Information about the blogger was quickly dug out, including the fact that she was a student at an elite school. There were also many photos. The netizens also emailed the principal of her school to demand action.

Finally, the blogger issued an apology:

i say sorry to everyone

i had no idea that this would turn out to be such a big affair

i didn't want to make it a big deal

i regret this

i don't know how i can undo that blog post

i know that it is useless for me to say SORRY to you but ... i am willing to donate money

i now that i will not be forgiven by hong kong

but i want to do something that a hong kong person ought to be doing that is, to donate money you will say that i am just talking rubbish that this is mere talk but i will really make a donation you say that i am a cold-blooded heartless person. i admit it if i say that i will change and i won't repeat this again you won't believe me i am writing this for those people who woke me up, to say thanks

Some netizens refused to believe her because she is only writing this upon fear of expulsion from her school.

The blogger has shut down the blog.

When the earthquake occurred on May 12, the Central Publicity Department acted the usual way for an emergency incident. An order was sent down to the various local media not to gather news on their own and stick to the Xinhua/CCTV reports. Then the Central Publicity Department quickly found out that the order was ineffective. The various city and provincial reporters rushed out to the frontlines overnight. One newspaper had almost 50 reporters out in the field. Everybody said that at a time of national emergency, they could not worry too much about the censors. Even if their reports get spiked, they could serve as volunteers serving the nation and its people.

Once the reporters arrived at the front lines, they threw themselves into gathering news while blending in with the military soldiers, police officers and civilians. They completely put the ban order from the Central Publicity Department behind their minds. On the Internet, there was also a lot of information and opinions that came spontaneously from the civilian sector. The Central Publicity Department did not have the ability to stop this tidal wave either. They could only ask Xinhua and CCTV to increase their "opinion leadership" by denouncing the things that deviate from the official position, such as questions about earthquake prediction and shoddy construction of school buildings.

This big earthquake had also changed the western media coverage of China. The overseas media were affirmative in their evaluation of the quick and decisive response to the emergency. CNN also apologized for the anti-China speech. So the 1 million RMB research project paid for by the Central Publicity Department did not have to be used because the ground situation had changed.

When last seen, two months ago, the ambiguously subversive pandas of Sichuan Province's tourism-promotion campaign were talking about... something, as a way of encouraging Chinese travelers to come see them in their western homeland. Discussion of what "More Freedom, More Happiness" might and might not mean here and here. [SichuanTourismPoster-MoreFreedom.jpg] [SichuanTourismPoster-MoreFreedom2.jpg]

Pandas switched to fruit-only diet after earthquake devastates bamboo. Earthquakes play havoc with the panda's favourite food, bamboo. Huang Zhi, the evacuation team leader, said the transferred pandas ranged in age from eight to 13 years and all were female.

The loss of human life is heartbreaking – nearly 100,000 killed in the space of a few minutes – but I have to admit it was the death of a single panda named Mao Mao that moved me to tears.

They included Guo Guo, a pregnant 12-year-old panda who is due to give birth in about three weeks. The pandas were kept in two-tier cages with beds and lots of padding to keep them comfortable. There are reckoned to be 1,590 pandas living in the wild, all of them in China, and the numbers have been rising in recent years after conservation efforts. Most of the docile breeding-averse beasts – about 1,400 – were in the part of Sichuan that was wrecked by the quake.

Kung Fu Panda is coming to the rescue. The film's production team from Dreamworks Animation recently visited the Sichuan Province of China to observe and sketch the animals that inspired Jack Black's character, Po. The team also partnered with Conservation International to provide a $1 million donation to aid in the protection of the endangered species. The money comes at a good time, since Chinese officials predict that more wild pandas will require assistance this winter. The region's devastating May earthquake affected 80 percent of the bears' habitat.

While I love animals and wouldnt like to see pandas gone, you cant just put a halt on chinese people and try to stop them from running their own country. If he was chinese then that would be different because it would be his country.

Performance 'artist' Calls for Pandaland Boycott of Kung Fu Panda

Sichuan, the home of the giant panda, will postpone the release of the Hollywood movie Kung Fu Panda for at least 5 days due to a new round of controversy. A performance artist accused the film of mining Chinese moviegoers' wallets after the major earthquake by stealing the Chinese panda and other cultural symbols.

Even though film directors John Stevenson and Mark Osborne have said that Kung Fu Panda is intended as a "love letter" and a tribute to Chinese kung fu and the country's culture, and the film has won widespread positive acclaim from premieres around China, Sichuan provincial capital Chengdu's five cinema chains released a joint statement last night announcing a postponement in the screening of the film.

"Due to the fact that some audiences are unaware of the content of the film Kung Fu Panda, which was supposed to hit nationwide screens, including Sichuan, on June 20, we have decided to postpone the release", they announced. "Later we hope to re-introduce the film and the cast to the public in Sichuan, to pave the way for the film's screening."

Sources said the film will be postponed for five days.

A performance artist claimed credit for this "success".

"In my artistic heart, I cannot accept the fact that Hollywood wants to make a fortune from the Chinese people after the huge earthquake in Sichuan," said Zhao Bandi in one of his blogs on Bokee.com. "It's an ugly bear. I wouldn't even dignify it with the name 'panda'."

Even though he hasn't actually seen the film, he is referring to the role (voiced by Jack Black) in the summer blockbuster Kung Fu Panda. Zhao announced to the waiting world that at this point in time he personally would find healing for his heart through silence, rather than be amused by the comedy cartoon. Presumably his "silence" will start after everyone in China has heard his views on the cartoon film.

Zhao, a 42-year-old "performance artist" and designer, has achieved minor fame through a number of art exhibitions at home and abroad. Ironically, he operates under the title "Panda Man" since many of his artworks themselves exploit the image of the panda.

As Chinese citizens, we firmly oppose the exhibition of the Hollywood movie Kung Fu Panda in China as of June 20. The reasons are as follows:

Hollywood is the kind of place whose style and values create large numbers of people like Sharon Stone. She was the female actress who claimed that the earthquake in China was "karma." Not only was she not criticized by the "department unit," her "aura" was shining bright instead. Hollywood is the type of place which lovingly applaud the arrogance, hypocrisy and vileness of Sharon Stone. Only in an amoral place like Hollywood can Sharon Stone gain in popularity via a moral lapse.

Upon further examination, the top signee for the petition is none other than the man known as "Panda Man" Zhao Bandi, who has a fashion line based upon the national treasure of the panda and therefore has a clear interest in not wanting any dilution of his brand image.

The Hollywood kung-fu animation film Kung Fu Panda was initially banned in Sichuan because of complaints that it was in poor taste and disrespectful given the human and animal quake deaths. However, the film was screened after internet users insisted that the victims who lived in the quake zone needed a decent movie to cheer them up. The release in Sichuan, home to the giant panda, had been delayed following a protest by performance artist Zhao Bandi, who employs panda images in his work, after he complained that the film was in poor taste and disrespectful to the earthquake victims. In response, Zhao's comments prompted a backlash online with the general sentiment being that people living in the quake zone might need some cheering up from the movie.

BANDI PANDA' Shop Opening: The first 'BANDI PANDA' shop will be officially opened on June 22nd, 2008 in 798 Art District, Beijing. There will be a small reception held to celebrate for the launch of the new brand.

Following up on his 'BANDI PANDA' fashion show during China International Fashion Week which triggered 'fashion earthquake' in China, artist Zhao Bandi is now involved in the field of fashion and will meet fashion consumers with his own products. In the new opening store, a series of fashionable T-shirts and accessories will be presented. In addition, the series of colourful panda plush toys which are specially designed for 2008 Beijing Olympics as Zhao Bandi's 2008 Mascots will be on sale in the new shop.

The protest and petition were led by artist Zhao Bandi 赵半狄, whose work incorporates panda motifs.

When an artist calls for the boycott of another artist, The rules of literary criticism apply: A boycott says nothing of truth or beauty, it's just pure jealousy.

Zhao Bandi is a moron.

Zhao Bandi is no stranger to panda hype.

I thought the movie was created to kiss the ass of the Chinese due to the upcoming Olympics but as usual, they take it the wrong way.

Here are some photos from the Bandi fashion show, which include the (in)famous Furong Jiejie.

Zhao's latest works are a series of photographs of himself and a toy panda bear, engaged in a cartoon speech-bubble dialogue about issues of concern to ordinary urban-dwellers-air pollution, violence, drug abuse and unemployment. The pictures were displayed at the prestigious Venice Biennale art show this year, among thousands of works from around the world including more than 50 pieces by 20 Mainland Chinese artists. Jaded critics arched their eyebrows at Zhao's photographs, and praised their "deadpan black humor" and "ironic wit."

The same works that were catching the art world's attention in Venice were simultaneously being displayed on 300 lightboxes at different locations in Beijing's subway system, and on smaller posters inside the trains themselves. The Beijing "exhibition" was not organized through an art gallery, but by the artist himself after extensive negotiations with the Beijing subway authorities. The lightboxes were paid for with sponsorship from Kodak, and a printing company that displayed their logo on the photographs. The works stayed up in the subway for the month of May per contract, and many remain in place as the subway waits for a new paying client to fill the advertising space. Viewed by millions of commuters, Zhao and his panda have been extensively covered in the local press and featured on several television stations, including the central government-run China Central Television. One of the photos depicts Zhao standing on a freeway pedestrian bridge with his back to the camera, saying "I am laid off." The panda—holding the neckstrap of a pair of binoculars—says, "Here's a present for you, it will make you look farther." If you live in Beijing, you know that on most days binoculars will not help you see any farther, because the yellow-gray substance that passes as air is not penetrable beyond 50 meters. In another photograph from the series, Zhao wears a rubber Halloween mask, and asks the panda "Is there anything more terrible than me?" "It's DRUG!" answers Mi the panda.

To understand why Zhao's works are causing such a fuss, it is useful to consider the average public messages bombarding citizens every day.

1. STRENUOUSLY CARRY OUT THE FOUR DO'S CAMPAIGN!
2. BRING PROSPERITY TO THE MOTHERLAND THROUGH SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY!
3. HOLD HIGH THE BANNER OF DENG XIAOPING THOUGHT!
4. BE A CIVILIZED CITY DWELLER!

The copy-writing comrades at the Propaganda Bureau have not noticed that things have moved on since 1951. While the marketing people at Marlboro, Motorola, and even the Miyun Peanut Factory know exactly how to get their message across to trans-millennial consumers, the Propaganda Bureau still insists on addressing the People (i.e. consumers) in drab Partyspeak. So even when they have something useful to say, like "Don't drink a bottle of Erguotou and then go for a drive" or "Don't throw your trash in the street," their message occupies the average Zhou's attention for approximately 0.1 nanoseconds.

These slogans are displayed on billboards across the nation, in stark red characters painted on whitewash, or printed across a background picture of flowers or of Tian'anmen Gate. Although the slogans appear to mean nothing at all, they are in fact trying to convey pragmatic messages that would, if phrased in understandable terms, appeal to most citizens' common sense.

In plain language, these slogans mean:

1. Respect yourself. Behave well. Be alert. Be independent.
2. Get educated!
3. Get rich without harming the peasants and the workers.
4. Be nice to other people.

Zhao's official reception hasn't always been positive. He has been accused by the Beijing Youth Daily of plagiarizing the dialogue for one of the photographs in which Zhao asks the panda "Do you mind if I smoke?" "Do you mind if I am extinct?" the panda replies. The Communist Youth Organization journal cited an American anti-smoking campaign from the early 1990s that shows a man asking a female companion the same question. She replies: "Do you mind if I die?" Communist Youth Organization journals are not known for their appreciation of cross-cultural satire.

Zhao has also encountered problems due to his personal appearance. Although he dresses smartly and does not look remotely like a hippie, one television interview with him was rejected as unsuitable by the censors because of his long hair.

He chose a panda bear as his comrade in arms in the struggle for public service because it is a rare and precious animal and a readily identifiable symbol of China. Despite this, Zhao says, no one has ever given the panda a lovable public face: "Think of the giant panda statue on the traffic circle near the Asian Games Village," he says, referring to a three-meter-tall fiber-glass Disney mutant built to entertain (or perhaps threaten) athletes who came to Beijing in 1992 to participate in the games. "That panda is a monster!"

Like government propaganda, the Asian Games panda is large, ominous, shoddily-made and imposed on the public by a faceless authority.

This one is worse because the money-grubbing gimmickry stole China's "national treasure" (note: the panda) and "kung fu" and then came to China to grab its share of money in post-earthquake China.

We cannot welcome a Hollywood that is relishing the Chinese earthquake!

一家美國動畫公司要做中國熊貓的故事，這從哪裡看來都有點詭異，先不提畫虎不成反類犬的疑慮，熊貓很可愛沒錯，熊貓光坐在地上吃竹子就很可愛，但現在要熊貓飛天竄地打功夫，看著它肥嘟嘟的肚子，我不禁也摸摸自己的肚子，站在肥胖界同志的立場，我為功夫熊貓捏了一把冷汗。

A U.S. animation company to do the story of China's giant pandas, which are a little bit from where it seems strange, not to mention the painting first Tiger no doubt like a dog, cute panda Yes, pandas eat bamboo light sitting on the ground is very cute, but now Flying Panda to play channeling efforts toot watched it the belly fat, I can not help but also feel their bellies, from obesity industry's position, I am Kung Fu Panda捏了一for the cold.

以前以前有看過片頭的，只因為看到一隻熊貓講英文，覺得很不自在而放棄了去觀看它。Previously seen the titles of the past, only to see a panda because English-speaking, feel very uncomfortable and gave up to watch it. 偏見地區看待了它。Biased view of its region. 即使是外國人做的熊貓，也有它的價值。Even foreigners do pandas, but also its value. 不能有什麼歧視。What can not be discriminated against.

Pandas' home city to pass law outlawing abuse of panda images

Saucy and suggestive commercial exploitation of panda images may become a thing of the past in the pandas' home city if a planned law is passed.

The bid for legislation to protect panda images comes in the wake of some controversial uses of panda iconography which have got Chinese citizens hot under the collar.

Self-styled panda artist Zhao Bandi outraged many with his Bandi-Panda fashion show at China Fashion Week in Beijing earlier this month, sparking nationwide concerns that the so-called conceptual art creation abused the panda's decent image of being a friendly and cute symbol.

Zhao, who always wears a cap that makes him look like a panda cub on his head, is frequently accompanied at media events by a clutch of scantily-clad panda girls--dressed in the sexy style of bunny girls, but with panda-eared wigs instead of bunny-eared ones. "I'm a king in the panda's world. You see these panda girls are my concubines," Bandi said modestly in a recent interview.

At the Beijing fashion parade Zhao used panda imagery in each of his creations. He said he used panda images as "a medium to present different clothing styles of Chinese social classes and social issues."

"People deem giant pandas to be China's state treasure. I am also a treasure for China, no less significant than the panda," said Zhao, who prefers to be called pandaman.

Pandemonium breaks out at Taipei Zoo
Zookeepers became suspicious of the resident giant pandas' true pedigree after Tuan Tuan and Yuan Yuan began acting strangely

STAFF REPORTER
Wednesday, Apr 01, 2009, Page 13

Taiwan-China relations were dealt a severe setback yesterday when it was found that Taipei Zoo's "pandas" are not what they seem.

Zookeepers discovered at feeding time yesterday that the two pandas are in fact Wenzhou brown forest bears that had been dyed to create the panda's distinctive black-and-white appearance.

The Taipei Zoo's head of ursidae ex-procyonidae care, Connie Liu (劉長春), said she became suspicious when the pandas, Tuan Tuan (團團) and Yuan Yuan (圓圓), began to spend almost all of their waking hours having sex. Pandas are notorious for their low libidos, which make them difficult to breed in captivity.

"Let's just say Tuan Tuan and Yuan Yuan would tuan yuan at every chance," said Liu, referring to the combination of the panda's names, which means "to reunite" in Mandarin. "They would do it doggy-style and every armchair zoologist knows that pandas favor the missionary position — when they do it at all. Their behavior caused chaos. Children screamed and parents became irate."

Her suspicions were confirmed yesterday when she noticed that the animals' new hair growth was discolored.

"Their roots began to show," she said.

A zookeeper who asked to be identified only by his nickname A-diung (阿忠) because he was not authorized to speak with the media said he and his coworkers had long had their doubts, but were discouraged from publicly voicing their concerns by management.

"Whenever the moaning from the panda enclosure gets too loud we gotta go in there and hose 'em down with cold water," he said. "After a while, parts of the animals' black-and-white patches started to turn brown."

He said he alerted senior zoo staff who dismissed his concerns.

"They told me pandas at the zoo in Washington, DC, get lethargic and sometimes lie in their own feces because they can't tolerate hot weather, so it didn't surprise them at all that their fur was turning brown since Taipei's hotter on average than Washington," he said.

The pandas arrived in Taipei last December as a gift from the Chinese government. The pair were first offered three years ago, but were rejected by then-president Chen Shui-bian (陳水扁). After the Chinese Nationalist Party (KMT) candidate Ma Ying-jeou (馬英九) won the presidential election last May, the pandas were accepted, though critics continue to decry what they see as an attempt by Beijing to bribe Taiwanese with cute, cuddly furballs in lieu of a more meaningful gesture of goodwill such as removing some of the 1,500 missiles China has pointed at Taiwan.

Even the pandas' most diehard supporters were brokenhearted yesterday. Some angrily compared the subterfuge to last year's contaminated milk scandal, when melamine that had been added to watered-down milk sickened 300,000 victims across China and led to a recall of dairy products in countries including Taiwan.

"First the milk scandal and now this. What are we going to hear next?" said Chang I-jun (張麗君), a Taipei resident.

Chang, who operates a souvenir stand near the zoo's entrance, added that the scandal would affect sales of her stuffed panda toys, panda T-shirts, panda pens and notepads, remote-controlled pandas on wheels, caps with panda ears on top, panda fans, panda flashlights, panda mugs, panda eyeglass cases, panda face masks, panda slippers, panda wallets and panda purses.

"China certainly owes us an apology," said Chang.

In a statement released yesterday evening, Chinese foreign ministry spokesman Qin Gang (秦剛) addressed the panda scandal.

"We understand that our compatriots in Taiwan are very upset. We wish to assure them that we have taken steps to address their concerns. We hope that our Taiwanese friends enjoy the gift of two extremely rare Wenzhou brown forest bears," Qin said.

the slogan on the poster means "fat that shocks the universe, sirloin that stuns the martial arts world"

it's symmetrical text structure and resemblance to slogans connote the sarcasm intended.

also in the subtitle the word "prowess" was substituted by another word with the same pronunciation but a total different meaning, making the word mean something like "appetite" or "the quantity you could eat"-- like a parody

The numbers in the picture match the list below.

1. The fattest in the world. People may be scared by his fatness.
2. The film was made in China in 2008. It must be the funniest and most interesting in the world.
3. Those who practice kung fu are shocked by his fat belly.
4. Hatred
5. Art Director
6. Action or Kung Fu Director
7. Person's name "Xu Ke." Xu is the last name: a famous director in China.
8. Wong Fei Hong
9. Versus
10. Kung Fu Panda
11. People who know kung fu extremely well.
12. I cannot see the words very clearly, but the general meaning is to describe Wong Fei Hong as the best fighter in the world and to describe the panda as the one who can eat the most.

Subject: Sound Activated Vibrating Panda

I am writing to inquire about the Sound Activated Vibrating Panda, which is featured on your profile. Could you please send more information on the Sound Activated Vibrating Panda? The profile description says "the cute panda will vibrate and speak!" What does the Panda say when it speaks? Can the Panda be customized to say anything we want? We would like to consider the Sound Activated Vibrating Panda for distribution in the New York City area. If possible, we would like the Panda to say, "Our purpose is to ensure that literature and art fit well into the whole revolutionary machine as a component part." We can provide a voice recording of our founder speaking these words.

Thank you for your inquiry.

The sound activated vibrating doll can speak. When you activate it, it says: Nice to meet you, after the activation, when it hear sound, it will make some noise as a funny baby, when keep it quite for 30 seconds, it will turn itself off, and says: see you later. This item can be customized to say what you want, but this will have extra charge.

The quotation of our panda design items was attached, any questions please be free to let me know. Thanks.

Subject: Dynamic Panda Ten Thousand Years Calendar (YXL1)

I am writing to inquire about the Dynamic Panda Ten Thousand Years Calendar (YXL1), which is featured on your profile. Could you please send more information about the Dynamic Panda Ten Thousand Years Calendar (YXL1)? The Dynamic Panda Ten Thousand Years Calendar (YXL1) fits well with our sales line, and we would like to consider the Dynamic Panda for distribution in the New York City area. However, we need more information. The photo at your profile site is very small. Can you contact me with a larger, clearer photo? In addition, we are not sure about the nature of the product. Is it designed to last ten thousand years, or does it simply allow its user to look up dates over a period of ten thousand years? If it allows the user to look up dates over a period of ten thousand years, when does that period begin and end?

In addition, I would like to receive more information on any Panda items in your product line. Could you direct me to your full product listing or contact me with information on Panda items in your product line?
